

Measures taken by Burckhardt+Partner AG to create sustainable development

Being active in a national economy, B+P decided to respond to a global concern of our society by integrating sustainable development in its architecture. This measure is implemented by B+P in a tight management organization, supported by determined and qualified staff, in order to preserve the given environmental capital in a balanced and sustainable fashion in the design and construction of their projects.

The following are some key elements used by B+P in the creation of sustainable development:

- Innovation guarantees evolution and durability. For our customers, innovation turns into added value.
- Innovation can preserve market shares if it is in harmony with vision, intelligence, perseverance and risk taking.
- Of particular importance are the respect and the promotion of competencies in the areas of energy optimization and sustainable development.
- The formation of workshops together with internal and external team building and their integration in the project process allows us to continuously deepen our know-how in this field.
- Burckhardt+Partner AG: your preferred partner of the Minergie association.
